Hi! The only thing I found was the original plat map in the Circuit Clerk's Office. It shows the area in pink. I checked our County Court records but could not find any annexations for Tupelo.

I hope this helps.

Sharon,

Do you guys have any annexation records on file that speak to this area?

The blue line is what the Census has and the pink color is what the state has.

Jennifer,

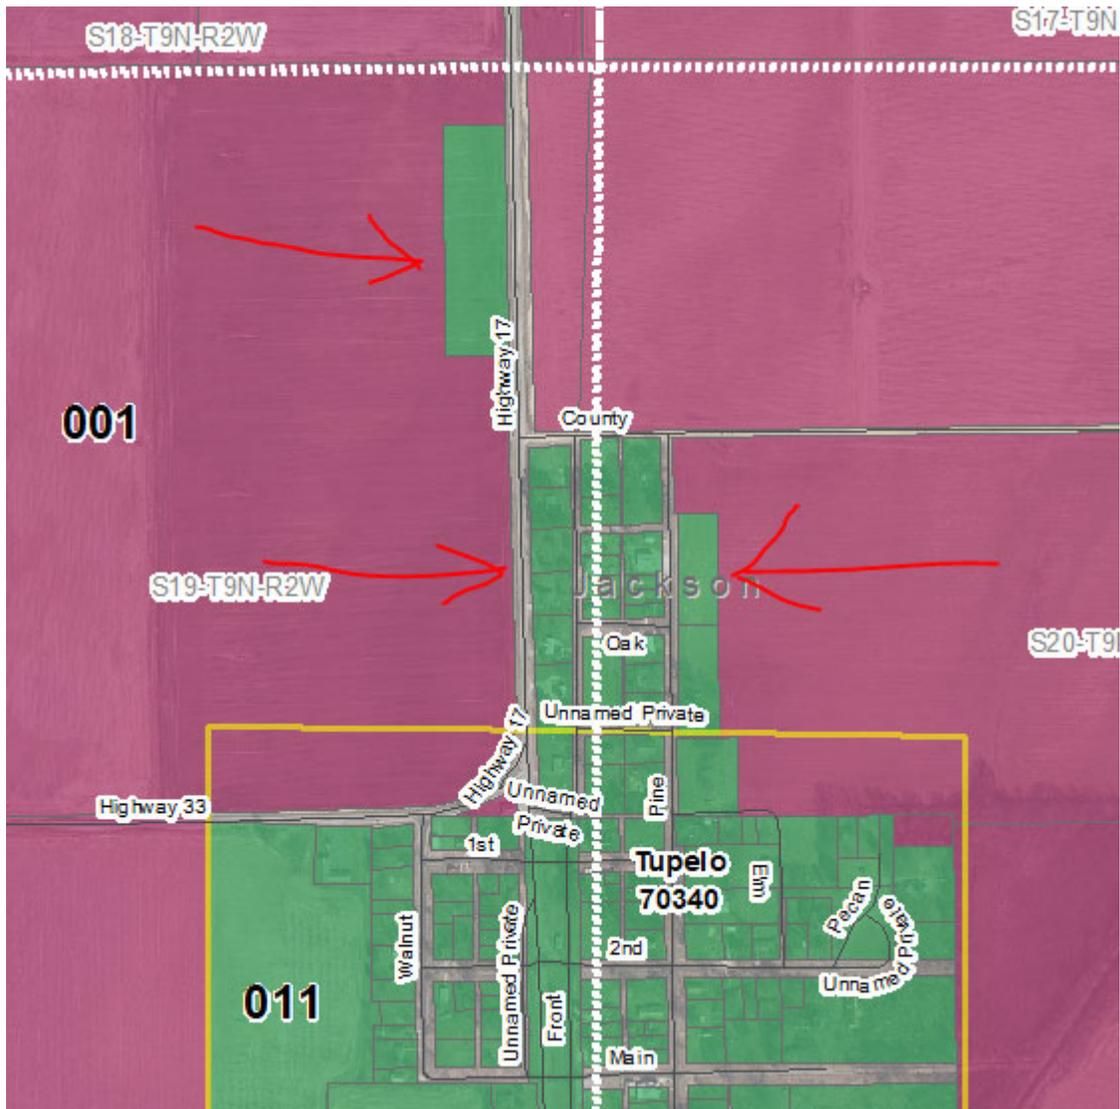

I bet you thought I forgot you. I have not been able to find anything regarding annexation of additional lands into the City of Tupelo. However, I will continue to search.

Brenda—thank you so much for helping me out with this. As we discussed on the phone, the state map may need to be corrected for Tupelo. I'm looking for the documents that brought this area in to attach to our corrections. Do you know which ordinance or court order brought these in? If so, would you happen to have a copy on file? Let me know what you think.

Green is parcels according to code and the yellow line is what the state has for the muni boundary. If those green parcels are indeed inside the city then I will need to correct the state map.
